- ★ We believe that interdisciplinary collaboration is essential to providing the highest quality supports
- ★ We believe that through professional clinical assessment and recommendations our clients will be able to make informed decisions about their future goals and outcomes
- ★ We believe that teaching replacement behaviors will increase the dignity and self-worth of our clients by reducing social stigmatization and allowing greater access to individual preferences
- ★ We believe that educating and training caregivers in proven behavioral techniques will allow the individual to remain connected to natural support networks.
